Treating Dis-ease

Scientists have clearly documented that all things are made up of energy. Energy fields operate inside our bodies (chakra system) and outside our bodies (auric system). When our energetic vibration decreases, dis-ease can occur on physical, emotional, mental and spiritual levels.

Energy therapies return higher frequencies to the human energetic system to promote wellness. A Rising Star brings healing to all levels, addressing both the symptoms and the cause of the dis-ease - thus making it an extraordinarily comprehensive and effective system of treatment.

How It Works

The Rising Star works by directing energy from Source (Universe) to the Source within the client, through the chakra system.

The role of the practitioner is to facilitate pure, high vibrational energy to flow into the client. The energy knows precisely where it is needed most.

The healing works on the five elements; fire, water, air, earth and ether, raising the vibration of your energy fields so your entire being can start to balance and heal.

As everything is made of energy, you may also notice that when you change, so do family and friends around you.

Optimal Results

The energy work continues after the session to clear the chakra and auric system for 21 days, moving through the 7 energy points (chakras) three times. As such, 3 weeks between sessions is best.

For optimal results, three sessions are recommended. Each session promotes deeper relaxation, allowing the mind to let go, so deeper issues can be addressed.

Keep in mind, medical professionals should be consulted in all situations.
